

Cetova and Essentio Join Forces to Offer Comprehensive Enterprise Data Management and Reporting Solutions To JD Edwards Users

Jersey City, N.J.—July 18th, 2011—Cetova Corp. (www.cetova.com), a pioneer in the field of ERP-based performance management software, and Essentio (www.essentio.com), a provider of enterprise data management solutions, have announced a partnership to offer JD Edwards users data archiving and unified reporting, querying, and dashboard capabilities. Aimed at equipping users with a more effective complement of extended ERP and EDM capabilities, the Cetova-Essentio initiative will focus on educating the marketplace and filling gaps in the JD Edwards ecosystem.

“The joint initiative will benefit a wide range of JD Edwards’ users,” said Carol Knouse, Cetova’s VP of Customer Care. “Organizations now have the opportunity to employ an integrated solution that can enhance IT system performance through archiving, without needing additional investment for management reporting capabilities.” According to Knouse, Cetova’s solution provides seamless, concurrent access to archived and production data and reporting capabilities from any JD Edwards ERP system.

Essentio’s Archivist, pre-integrated with JD Edwards World and EnterpriseOne, is designed to help companies manage ERP data from archival through disposal, providing faster system performance, reduced ERP upgrade time and legal risk mitigation.

“Cetova’s ability to access and report on archived as well as live data creates an ideal synergy with our Archivist solution,” said Nirav Shah, Essentio’s president. “We are also pleased with the similar business cultures: Both of our organizations have a reputation for quality products and client service.”
